RULING BY THE CHAIR

MR. SPEAKER.—Decisions in the Committees are taken by the majority of the members present and the members are not compelled to be present. It is the discretion of the members. I do understand in the present case that there was a difficulty and the Hon'ble Member wanted to take the powers under Rule 346 and permit him to present his own opinion on this Committee report but unfortunately, my reading of Rule 346 is, in the absence of any specific rules provided for, only we can invoke Rule 346 ; but there is a specific provision i.e., Rule 231 which categorically says about the report of the Committee. Therefore, there shall be one report and there shall not be any discussion on the report unless otherwise under Rule 233 if discussion is allowed. Therefore, now the report is presented by the Chairman and I don't think under the rules that a member in the Committee can express his opinion at this stage in the House and therefore, I close the discussion and I shall not allow the member to present his own opinion at this stage.
